A New Coat For Our Men In Blue

The familiar coat of the uniformed branch of the Arlington police department may be a thing of the past in the future.

Six members of the local department are trying out new lightweight coats with fur collars during the winter months. Two "men in blue" on each shift will try out the new coats with an idea to determine the durability and warmth of the coats or jackets.

Police Chief Fred Lucarelli said that the men themselves had requested the use of the different "style winter garment."

Lucarelli continued on by explaining that the present winter coats will be replaced by the newer type jacket as they wear out.

FALLING CEILING, LEAKING ROOF is the story in the study hall in Building A of the High School which Frank Prestijohn, building maintenance foreman, surveys from the scaffolding. Students have just recently been allowed back into part of the study hall away from the area where plaster has fallen. Director of Properties Frank Wright says when the roof leaks again students will be moved out again. He is asking $1500 for temporary emergency repairs to the roof and $750 for inside materials with which his men can fix the ceiling. Wright predicts expensive work will be needed in the building soon if something isn't done, but it is put off annually in anticipation of a school building program. (Advocate Staff Photo)

$2025 Rent Asked

Pupils Will Go To Boys' Club

By a 4-2 vote the School Committee chose to go ahead with plans to put Junior High East pupils in classrooms located in the Boys' Club, after negotiations with the club have been finalized. The club has offered four classrooms, gym and pool time for $2,025 a month.

The vote came on a motion by committee member Richard Kraus with Kraus, Kirby, O'Neil and Kenna in favor and Cremens and Murray opposed. It was a confirmation of a vote made in November when the details of the proposal were first presented.

In November the committee was told that space was available at the Boys' Club to which 80 Junior High East seventh graders could be moved with four teachers. Gym facilities with club personnel in charge would be available. The committee, then also on a motion by Kraus, voted to enter an agreement if the club would meet specific conditions of the program as presented to the committee. At this time rent was tentative, but a

In the meantime, Sept. William T. Gibbs has asked the officials of Park Avenue Congregational Church which rents space to the Park West Program for details on their rental charge.

The committee admitted Tuesday night that the Park West rent of $1800 a month had apparently been determined without their knowledge and without justification of this charge being presented to them. They are also ignorant of the footage involved and how charges compare with commercial rentals for either location.

This week, Gibbs reported that he had not heard from the church and that conditions with the Boys' Club had changed. Rent is now set at $1800 a month for four classrooms. Gym and pool time would be available for an additional $225 a month with the instructors provided by the school department. Also 100 East pupils, already chosen, are in the program.

In the vote made Tuesday the committee authorized Supt. Gibbs to complete negotiations at an unspecified rent for four classrooms only, no physical education time, for the rest of the academic year.

It was made clear that the committee will meanwhile be studying the whole area of rented space, other alternatives to these locations, and the legal question raised by Committeeman Robert Murray if the space requirements must be put out on bid.

In November it was expected that the program would start in January. Four teachers were hired for the program, one from the East staff and three new to the system. They are on the payroll already and will do curriculum work until the program starts.

In reviewing alternatives to the Boys' Club the committee heard

Boys' Club Plans Tuff Town Jan. 22

The popular special event "Tuff Town" will be conducted at the Arlington Boys' Club on Friday, Jan. 22, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m.

All activities this evening will be geared to a Western theme. Last year over 350 boys were put through a physical fitness test by "Western Willie" and a physical exam by "Doc Holiday," before entering Tuff Town.

figures from Gibbs on demountable classroom rental. These units could be ready in a month from bid. He said the whole unit would rent for $80,000 over three years then belong to the town or could be purchased for $65,000 outright, plus additional costs involved with installation.

Kraus felt that demountables would not be good since there may be renovation or building at both high schools and planning for the East program was well underway.

In voting against approval chairman Mrs. Doris Cremens said she felt the committee would be vulnerable to criticism for the practice of letting themselves be charged any figure without justification. She sought written costs and figures on both the East and West programs justifying the rents being charged.

Educational Media

Bishop Trade Fair Wednesday

The Educational Media Trade Fair at Bishop School this coming Wednesday will not only exhibit the products of educational companies, but will feature demonstrations by the Arlington Audio-Visual Department and the Music Department.

Under the supervision of Matthew Grassie of the Audio Visual Department, there will be a continuous demonstration of 16 mm films and slides made by Arlington teachers and students, as well as other materials and equipment which the department supplies with other services to the school system.

The department provides in-service classes for Arlington teachers so that they may learn to utilize the available equipment and prepare materials such as film strips and slides that will supplement their instruction.

Students are also trained to use audio visual material to supplement oral reports. The old adage that one picture is worth a thousand words is a keystone in audio visual educational techniques. They can often express an idea through the use of film strips, films and slides correlating them with a recorded oral report.

Education has been making use of audio-visual materials for many years and with the advances in

Finance Committee Says No To Raises For Town Employees

Finance Committee Chairman George Rugg told the Selectmen this week that the Committee had voted not to support any wage or salary increases proposed this year for town employees or teachers.

Rugg said the Finance Committee will submit its own version of the School Committee budget to the town meeting should the School Committee prepared budget including an increase for teachers.

The Teachers' union this year asked the School Committee for a 37% wage increase and is still conducting negotiations.

By state law, the School Committee has fiscal autonomy and can force the town to appropriate the necessary funds for education by appealing to the Superior Court.

According to Rugg, he had heard estimates that some 60 to 80 communities across the state will force their School Committees into court action by refusing to appropriate the requested funds at town meeting. And, Rugg said, Arlington may be one of them.

Rugg also said that this is not the only area in which the Finance Committee is taking a "very austere" approach.

He said it currently looks like the committee will turn thumbs down on the purchase of new equipment for town departments, except in the case of necessary replacements.

It is hard to tell the town employees that you are singling them out as a class and saying they shouldn't get a raise this year, Rugg said later, but "holding wages is the only way we're going to hold down a big increase in the taxes this year."

He said that the Finance Committee held a lengthy discussion on the subject of raises for employees and that the consensus was that teachers and town workers do have job security which, in this time of high unemployment, is a balancing compensation to some degree.

According to the Town Manager's office, raises for town employees since 1965 have amounted to 37% while the cost of living has increased 24.4%. The police and fire departments have received a 41% increase over the same period.

The Firemen's Ball

From time to time we have received requests asking for a bit of history of what was known for many, many years as our Old Town Hall, that was, as most know, just opposite Pleasant St., about where part of the national bank and its property now stands.

Well, it has a wonderful history, and would take quite a few columns to relate all the activities that took place in that structure. Up until the year 1913 it was the center of all municipal activity and was the place that folks came to gather and gossip.

Some years ago the writer wrote about a very special social event that some letter writers feel should be repeated. A lady sent along a ticket to a dance that was held under the auspices of the Arlington Veteran's Fireman's Assn., held on Friday evening, November 4, 1902. It was a very elaborate invitation and a goodly crowd must have been expected as the number on this pastebord was 464. It stated that a concert would be given from 8 to 9, a grand march at 9, and believe it or not, dancing until 2 a.m.

This was a very quiet village in 1902, and even today there are very few places you can trip the light fantastic until that hour. Now here is the punch line, because it states that for the price of $1 a gentleman and two ladies would be admitted. If you brought an extra damsel the price was 25 cents. One wonders why the three, except that perhaps one came for the concert, one entered the Grand March, and the other lady did the dancing. But if they all remained for the Portlands, Polkas, Lancers, the Glides and Waltzes, then that visiting fireman really had his dance card filled, and must have been a very rugged gay blade.

With no lights in the Town, and very little transportation, it can safely be said that the social life in Arlington was quite glittering 68 years ago, as they danced away to their hearts' content until the clock in the steeple struck two.

No mention was made of refreshments, but it is assumed they had a generous supply of cold lemonade, and sarsaparilla, because one needed a bit of liquid nourishment for that long walk home in the early hours on a frosty November morning in 1902.

If the three ladies all lived in the same house, or on the same street, the journey home would be easy, but if they resided in different sections of the village, who was escorted home last? The hit song of the day was "I'm Afraid To Go Home In The Dark" (unless accompanied by a visiting fireman). At the bottom of the ticket was the reminder to all the fire fighters that they appear in uniform, so it must have been a very picturesque affair, unless they came prepared for a fire, and if so one imagines they checked the rubber boots, and donned their dancing pumps.

So if you ever wonder what folks did before the advent of Radio and T.V. this is one of the answers, and it might be mentioned that over the years some real name bands came to town, as dancing was very popular, and that was the citizens' THING in Arlington.

Letters To The Advocate

Letters to The Editor are welcomed by The Arlington Advocate on any matters of public interest, but they must be limited to 250 words or two typed pages double-spaced. All letters must be signed.

TO THE EDITOR:

On Monday evening members of the Arlington Housing Authority met with the Board of Selectmen to discuss housing programs for low and moderate income families and elderly, especially the two programs that subsidize rents in private housing the Mass. Rental Assistance Program and the Federal Leased Housing Program. Information about the Leased Housing Program presented by the Housing Authority would tend to discourage Arlington's use of this program.

However, because the Housing Authority's interpretation differs from that presented in a three volume study of housing programs prepared by the Metropolitan Area Planning Council (MAPC), it seemed important to recheck the facts.

The following information was provided on Tuesday by Mrs. Stephanie Giddings, Chief of Tenant Services and Management Branch, and Steven Giddings, Multi-Family Housing Representative, Production Division, both of the Federal Bureau of Housing and Urban Development, (HUD), Boston office.

1. The lowest income limit for a single elderly person in the Federal Leased Housing Program in any town or city in the Metropolitan Boston area or eastern Massachusetts is $3,600. (Thus, a low income elderly person earning over $2,500 who is presently overincome for the Mass. Rental Assistance Program might well be eligible for a rent subsidy if Arlington were to adopt the Federal program. For example in Cambridge the income eligibility limit in Leased Housing for a single elderly person is $4,400. In Somerville it is $4,800.)

2. The Boston office of HUD is presently encouraging communities in this area to apply for the Leased Housing Program. (Other communities in the Metropolitan Boston area with equally tight housing markets have applied for and been granted funds by HUD. Vacancy rates Cambridge, 1.9%; Somerville, 2.1%; Brookline, 2.2%; Medford, 1.0%; Arlington's vacancy rate, 1.0%. Research Bureau, Mass. Department of Commerce and Development.)

Very truly yours,
(Mrs.) Ellen Adolph
Legislative Chairman
Arlington Civil Rights Committee

TO THE EDITOR:

I am in desperate need of an apartment. But because my annual income exceeds the $2500 limit I am not eligible for housing for the elderly.

With an approximate income of $4,000 (slightly under), a rent of $165 monthly is prohibitive. But where can I find an apartment for under that amount? Very much need one.

There must be many in Arlington with similar incomes—slightly over the $2500 limit.

Can't Arlington, the Selectmen and the Council on Aging, do something about this situation? And do it soon?

Can't Arlington establish some sort of help for folks in my circumstances? It's needed by many.

Sincerely,

An Anxious Arlington Resident

TO THE EDITOR:

Fighting drug abuse is not just the business of paid civil employees or those who have a young person who has been drawn into the drug culture.

Drug abuse affects employers who find the absentee problem growing because of drug misuse, or the performance of workers suffering.

Teachers who may also have to cope with the impaired performance of students they are charged with educating. Businessmen who may note the increased frequency of burglaries and attempted burglaries.

Pedestrians who have been assaulted or had their handbags snatched by someone desperate for money with which to buy drugs.

Parents who, although they may have brought their children up well, realize that despite all, their children could become involved through compelling outside influences.

Young people who must cope with what can be overwhelming peer group pressure, the difficulty of finding compatible friends, and later, being able to date someone who is not involved in the misuse of drugs.

The phenomenal rise in the misuse of drugs, plus the need for factual information about drugs, should be everyone's business and concern. It is, in truth, society's problem, and society's responsibility. Directly, or indirectly, drug abuse affects everyone.

Your membership in the Concerned Citizens' Action Group of Arlington would be welcomed, as would your ideas and opinions. There are no dues. Please contact:

TO THE EDITOR:

As a result of the redistricting accomplished by the Selectmen pursuant to the action of last October's Special Town Meeting, Arlington now has 21 precincts, each of which will have 12 Town Meeting Members.

The residence patterns of the incumbent Town Meeting Members, elected from the previous 14 precincts, is such that several precincts have far more incumbents than they will be able to elect, while other precincts have far fewer.

A good argument can be made that this illustrates one of the defects inherent in the old system: some parts of Town were substantially overrepresented, some, underrepresented. In the overrepresented districts, one hopes that the voters will be discriminating and that they will drop their deadwood and elect those who have most to contribute to the Town.

However, this letter is primarily addressed to the problem in those precincts where a comparatively small number of incumbents reside. There is a danger that in some of them there may not be enough candidates to fill the openings. Worse still, there is a danger that people may be elected who have nothing to offer, or who have their own interests or the interests of a small group, rather than the interest of the community, at heart.

An effort must be made to persuade competent men and women who are willing and able to offer something to the Town to become candidates for Town Meeting.

If people would like to run, but hesitate because of their unfamiliarity with Town Meeting procedures, I advise them to contact Town Meeting Members in their precinct. Also, there are copies of the Town By-Laws, the Town Manager Act, the Town Meeting Act, and recent Town Reports in the Town Clerk's office.

I now address myself primarily to the residents of the new Precinct 17, that part of Town between Mass. Ave. and Summer Street from Mill Street to Park Ave. and Bow Street. There are only five (I believe) incumbents in this precinct now, of which I am one. Therefore most of our representatives elected March 6 will be newcomers.

Most of you have already received a flyer which I distributed throughout the Precinct. In it, I indicated that I would be happy to discuss anyone's candidacy with them and to answer what questions I could. Please don't delay your decision, papers must be filed by January 30th.

That Man About Town

By MAT

MAT hopes for the best, but the plan to move 100 Junior High East pupils to the Boys' Club seems to have some faults.

The program was initiated months ago by School Committeeman Richard Kraus who proposed a district study committee on the overcrowding situation. In November they reported their recommendation to go to the Boys' Club and Kraus led the way in moving acceptance. This week he again made the motion which confirmed the move to the club. The program was supposed to start Jan. 25.

But there are a few problems. The rent will probably be $1800 a month, same as Park Avenue Congregational Church charges for the Park West Program, but committee members admit they have no idea where the West figure came from, how much footage either location has, whether the charges are competitive on the rental market, or if they should put the rentals out on bid.

MAT must confess ignorance about much of the program. When the West program was being developed there were periodic reports to the School Committee by the five teachers from the West who volunteered to start the program and develop the innovative programs and philosophies which it would incorporate.

At the East, on the other hand, all MAT has seen is what was contained in the brief report given to the school committee in November and that mentioned no innovations or anything like that -- it seemed to be simply a plan to relieve overcrowding. Four teachers were designated for the program. Three of them are new to the system and just came on the payroll this month.

Kraus the other night called the East program "one of the most exciting things in educational terms that's happened in Arlington in some time." We hope he's right because it's a golden opportunity to break away from the traditional three R's and get into some real effective teaching and learning. But we question if the real objective is only to find a quick way to relieve overcrowding.

The situation now apparently is that without waiting for review of the Park West rent, the committee voted to go ahead with the Boys' Club with which terms have not yet been agreed on. The Club probably isn't interested in taking less rent than the church, so the committee now is committed to $3600 a month in rent at least through June for the two facilities.

Now, we have an idea that the Town Accountant might be very interested in the School Committee buying temporary space without going out on bid. Even if there eventually proves to be only one bidder for the space required, chances of getting a reasonable price are a lot better if the bidder is making an offer based on a set of specifications detailing the amount of square feet, the light, heat, cleaning, sanitary facilities and other items required.

We seem to remember the Town Accountant interpreting warrant articles as appropriating money only and not negating the laws regarding bidding on contracts over $1,000. Lack of bids -- or even the thought of calling for bids --, we hope, just a case of the School Committee members ignoring their responsibility to get the best buy for the money they spend. But the committee certainly leaves itself open to suspicion.

It seems that Jack Curran had quite a surprise last week when he opened his Advocate and looked at his ad for Assessor. In big bold type, one of our typesetters had set the date of the town election as March 16. Well, if you wait until March 16 to vote, you might as well wait until 1972 because the town election will be held on Saturday, March 6. We know it's March 6, Jack Curran knows it, now you know it and we hope our typesetters now know it too.

The School Committee has turned down the Selectmen's request that they insert any recommended raises for teachers in separate Warrant Article so that town meeting members will have a chance to express an opinion, even though that opinion would not be binding on the School Committee under the fiscal autonomy law. Selectman John Bilafer said this week he will insert that kind of article anyway, leaving it open-ended so that there will be a way town meeting members can express their views on any raises proposed for teachers this year. (The Finance Committee has already gone on record as being against any raise.)

Arthur Saul has made it official by taking out papers for reelection and all those people sitting on the edge of their seats hoping he would not run again can sit back and relax. Saul has lent integrity and wisdom to the board for many years. Though MAT hasn't always agreed with him, we have to recognize his contributions to the town and his ability.

The Selectmen this week voted 3-2 on a vote of confidence on the town Manager's articles regarding establishment of a redevelopment agency and creation of a position of Redevelopment Planner in the Department of Planning and Community Development.

Arthur Saul, John Bilafer and John Bullock voted on Bullock's motion to support the manager. William Abbot and Joseph Greeley, showing a remarkable lack of understanding, voted against.

THE BOX SCORE: Selectmen, all present. School Committee-Morine, Coughlin and Mrs. Brown (surgery) absent.

Chairman NowMrs. Doris Cremens Seeks Reelection To School Comm.

Doris M. Cremens (Mrs. Charles Cremens), 64 Mt. Vernon st., has announced her candidacy for reelection to the Arlington School Committee with the following statement:

My service to the citizens of Arlington as an elected School Committee member has been a responsibility into which I have tried to put maximum effort. The Chairmanship this year has been a challenge—a far greater one than I ever expected because of the number of weighty problems which have come before the Committee.

I hope that I have met this challenge with some degree of efficiency on Arlington's behalf. I would like the opportunity to continue to represent parents, teachers, students and other citizens in the next three years because I am certain it will be one of the most crucial periods in the history of Arlington.

A proper balance must be sought between meeting the continually changing needs of students and maintaining a reasonable school budget for the sake of those of us who pay for education through our local and state taxes.

I have taken every opportunity to promote cooperation between the School Department and other Town Departments and I have worked unceasingly to involve the community. The School Department staff members and students in coping with problems and issues which have confronted the Committee.

Examples of this philosophy are the meetings held in preparing specifications for the building program and in conducting the search for a Superintendent. Only through such communication and participation can any program have favorable chance for success.

The School System, as well as the whole Town, has many serious problems confronting it. The need for space at all levels, the need for new courses and new methods of presenting required courses, and the need for meeting individual learning abilities or disabilities are only some of the concerns we face.

We cannot afford to neglect the education of our young citizens, but we must find ways of assisting the older citizens in meeting the costs of quality education. We are at the crossroads. The decisions we make now will affect our Town for years to come.

Now that the Superintendent has been selected, the School Committee must determine priorities, both educational and financial. I hope that the people of Arlington will consider that my background, my experience of the past five years working through the democratic system to bring about effective change, and my record of performance as a member and present Chairman of the School Committee justify my re-election.

I am a graduate of Girls' Latin School, and Boston University, a former Director of Federated Girls' Clubs, and former Administrative Assistant at a research laboratory. My husband is Charles Cremens, a Director in the Cambridge Public Schools. We have three children—Karen, a first-grade teacher; Susan, a student at Boston University; and Charles, a junior at Arlington High School.

The major part of my time for many years has been devoted to children, their education and their recreational activities through Girl Scouts, Parent-Teacher Associations, etc. I am a member of the Mental Retardation Services Advisory Committee of the Mystic Valley Area and of the Charter Study (109) Committee.

Open lines of communication between Town Departments and between Arlington citizens and their school system and the very best education to prepare our young people for a complex life will continue to be my goals.

I look forward in the next few weeks to discussing issues and exploring opinions.

Ideas InvitedOn Bi-Centennial

Plans for Arlington's participation in the 1975-1976 celebration of our nation's 200th anniversary are being formulated by the Bi-Centennial Planning Committee.

Since all plans are still in the preliminary stage, the committee will welcome and consider any suggestions offered by the townspeople.

Administrators of the Robbins Library have already indicated that they will cooperate, initially by preparing extensive booklists dealing with Menotomy's (Arlington's) contribution and with the Revolutionary War in general.

Majority Report Says No To Related Ratio Rate Method

The Related Ratio Study Committee gave its study report this week and has been asked by the Board of Selectmen to review the Master Tax Plan and report back as soon as possible before April 1.

The committee will review the plan and attempt to determine what parts are beneficial and those that are not beneficial to the town, and suggest what action should be taken.

At the same time the Board Monday night voted to send a letter to the Master Tax Commission advising that such a review is being undertaken and seeking a meeting with the Commission in mid-April.

The purpose of the 7-member committee was to review and analyze all pertinent information that applies to the Related Ratio method.

The majority report of the committee indicated that a majority opposed the motion recommending adoption of the Related Ratio method for several reasons.

The report notes that individuals associated with various local, state and private organizations were contacted and none of them knew of a municipality where a Related Ratio type system had been adopted. Most expressed serious doubt that the system would be in conformance with the Mass. Taxation Laws.

The Related Ratio system was proposed as a method of determining annual property tax rate limits, as opposed to the residual open-ended system.

Extensive discussions by the committee revealed that the proposed system would not limit taxes, would be more difficult to administer, and very probably more expensive to implement without resulting in a desirable favorable affect to the taxpayer.

As a result of adopting Related Ratio system for Arlington, it is conceivable that future rises in school, county and state expenses would consume a higher percentage of a limited tax revenue, thereby producing a deterioration of needed town services, the majority felt.

Assessments and valuation methods are presently governed by state statutes which are applicable to all cities and towns in the Commonwealth. It is highly improbable that the Legislature would permit the adoption of any assessment or valuation system that would be unique to the Town of Arlington.

Adoption of the proposed system would require annual revaluation of the 13,000 parcels of properties in the Town of Arlington.

The proposed system has not been sufficiently detailed and leaves many questions unanswered regarding its legality and methods of implementation, according to the majority.

A minority report presented by members of the committee John Macaris and John R. Curran stated that disregarding possible present illegality which can be changed through legislative action under due process of law, the minority members feel the people can no longer continue to wait indefinitely for the legislature to take the initiative. Local initiative will become a catalyst for state action that will create property tax limits.

They felt that official local action requires official state action and a favorable local vote on related ratio will bring the property tax problem to the attention of all responsible state officials.

The full committee said that as a result of the undertaking of this study, it became evident that although the committee opposed the Related Ratio method, they unanimously felt the rising property taxes present a very serious problem to the well-being of the town and its citizens. Therefore, the full group strongly urges the Board of Selectmen to work towards the effective stabilization of property taxes at the state level by the application of their representative powers with statewide associations and the legislative representatives.

Members of the Board of Selectmen and the members of the committee agreed that it is important to have organizations and associations emphasize to the legislature the need to do something about present conditions.

Selectman Joseph P. Greeley, who is president of the Middlesex County Selectmen's Association, said that he would attempt to form a committee at the next meeting of that body similar to the one Arlington has to review the Master Tax Plan.

Town Manager Donald R. Marquis, who is president of the Mass.

City Manager and Municipal Administrative Association, explained that his organization has been active in the matter and has been in touch with the League of Cities and Towns on the matter.

Members of the Related Ratio Committee include Michael J. Sullivan, chairman; Rico A. Merluzzo, secretary; John B. Byrne, John Curran, John Macaris, Francis A. Coughlin and Raymond Hodgdon.

During the course of the study by the committee the question was raised whether Article 25 passed at the special town meeting on Oct. 19, 1970, could be placed on the ballot without statutory authorization from the General Court. The committee determined it could not be on the ballot, but there was no definite legal ruling.

For Assessor

Paul J. Cantrell Announces He's Candidate For Election

Candidate for Assessor, Paul E. Cantrell, 3 Stevens Terr., this week issued the following statement of candidacy:

"Examine the candidate's qualifications and select the man most qualified for the job," suggested Paul Cantrell as he announced his candidacy for the Arlington Board of Assessors. "The time has come to place a professional in the important and exacting job of assessor."

Cantrell is employed by the Massachusetts Department of Corporations and Taxation in the Bureau of Local Assessment where he works in supervising the work of local assessors across the state.

Cantrell is on the panel of appraisers of the United States Veterans Administration. He has spent the last 12 years working in all aspects of real estate and says he knows the field inside and out.

Cantrell says he seeks the office of assessor because he is qualified to act as an assessor. He is not seeking to build a candidacy on pie-in-the-sky tax reduction promises which are, in fact, unworkable proposals leading to chaos. As an Arlington assessor for the seven years, Paul Cantrell offers the following:

1. "I will do everything, in my power and within the law, to keep Arlington's elderly in their homes. No serious candidate can honestly promise more than that."

2. "I will thoroughly explore the construction of buildings which would serve both schools and other compatible taxable uses—this could make Arlington's extensive school construction program pay for itself."

3. "I will do everything in my power to ascertain that each and every assessment in our town is fair and equitable—if we all must pay taxes, let each pay his own fair share."

4. "I will bring professionalism to the Board of Assessors. Knowing the job is the halfway point to accomplishing it. My background and training have uniquely prepared me for this position of public confidence and service."

Married to the former Beverly Alger, he and his wife have five children.

Cantrell concludes his statement noting that he is the qualified, professional candidate for the Arlington Board of Assessors. He requests, needs and deserves the support of every Arlington citizen.

Seeks Reelection

Frederick R. Buckley Is Housing Board Candidate

Frederick R. Buckley Jr., has announced his candidacy for reelection to the Arlington Housing Authority.

Buckley says that the post of housing authority member has increased tremendously in importance during the past few years. He notes that Arlington, like all Massachusetts communities, has experienced the sharp increase in real estate taxes which has most affected those citizens of low and fixed income.

As a result it has been necessary to implement programs to assist these income groups. The most recent step in this direction, he says, was accomplished with the completion of Winslow Towers, the third and largest of the elderly housing developments constructed in Arlington during the past 10 years.

Buckley points out that the Arlington Housing Authority has constructed a total of 308 units of elderly housing, which is more units than have been built by any other Massachusetts city or town of comparable size.

Buckley emphasizes that the work of the housing authority has not been limited in scope to the construction of elderly housing. In December, 1968, the Arlington Housing Authority received $67,500 in funds to commence a rental assistance program. Under this program, persons and families of low income, regardless of age, may apply for aid to pay their rent under certain conditions.

Buckley stresses the importance of this rent supplement program. He says that in a town like Arlington, which has very little vacant land available, it is becoming almost impossible to find suitable land upon which to construct additional housing units.

He predicts that the rental assistance program and other similar programs will become the dominant area of concentration during the 70's. Buckley feels this type of program is desirable because people in most instances are allowed to remain in the surroundings familiar to them so long as the apartment in which they reside meets the standards for habitation as established by the State Department of Public Health.

This theory of subsidized housing best serves the needs of a community which has Arlington's physical characteristics. During the years ahead we shall be looking for increased funding in order to expand this important program," Buckley concludes.

Buckley is a life-long resident of Arlington and resides at 124 Brooks ave. with his wife, the former Elaine Ferolito, and their two daughters.

He is a graduate of Bentley College, a practicing accountant, a member of the National Association of Accountants, and a member of the National Association of Housing and Redevelopment Officials.

He is also the present chairman of the Arlington Housing Authority, a town meeting member and precinct chairman, a former park commissioner, a member of the Executive Board of the East Arlington Residents Association, and a member of Arlington Council 109, Knights of Columbus, and Arlington Lodge 1349, Sons of Italy.

Robert Porteus Candidate For Job Of Town Moderator

The following statement was issued this week by Robert Porteus, 38 Frost st., candidate for Town Moderator.

"The plans for the March election relative to Town Meeting Members are unfair, unworkable and intolerable.

Many concerned Arlingtonians have expressed displeasure at the decision that certain Town Meeting Members will be given special preference on the ballot as candidates for re-election.

Porteus, a former Town Meeting Member and former Republican State Committee Member, says, "concerned Arlingtonians are in a quandry as to what to do about this. How in the world can a person run for re-election as a Town Meeting Member for, let us say, Precinct 21?"

The entire town has been redistricted and most people are now placed in a new precinct. Therefore, how can anyone actually be a candidate for re-election?"

At the request of many townsmen nomination papers for Town representative of the State Master Tax Commission. Members have indicated that the real estate tax has become such a burden that the time has come to publicly discuss this issue.

The meeting will begin promptly at 8 p.m. and will conclude at 10 p.m. A question and answer period will be part of the agenda.

Two Jackets Taken

Two jackets were reported missing at Arlington High School on Jan. 6.

One was a girl's, valued at $40, the second a boy's, valued at $75.

According to police reports, both were taken from lockers at the school.

YOUR PHARMACIST SPEAKS

Harold R. Partamian, B.S. Registered Pharmacist

Indigestion is both a puzzling ailment and an uncomfortable one, and some of its cures, rumor has it, are still more uncomfortable. Fortunately, cultivation of the art of eating may often prevent much nervous indigestion and improve your general health as well. Quiet, pleasant surroundings affect the appetite favorably as do slow eating and thorough chewing. Do not use liquids to wash down foods. Avoid overeating. Adults usually it is a good idea for you to discontinue eating before your appetites are completely satisfied. Save your family arguments for other times. Pleasant conversation, a leisurely attitude, or a bowl of soup at the beginning of a meal help to prevent many distressing cases of indigestion.

Winter time brings many ills. Fill prescriptions at RAWSON PHARMACY, 201 Broadway, Tel. 648-1991 for free pickup and delivery. Assorted Candies by Fanny Farmer, Whitman and Candy Cupboard. Cosmetics and Perfumes.

HELPFUL HINT: A piece of cotton soaked in vanilla when placed in the refrigerator will eliminate odors.

For the next 45 days, our car deals will give you more than a car.

These days, every car dealer is offering you a deal. Including us. The difference is, our deal includes more than a car.

On cars delivered now through February 28, during our "What-You-Do" Special, American Motors will give you a General Electric 12-Inch Portable TV with any new car you buy from us.

But that doesn't mean we won't give you a good deal, too.

Because we've got the best cars we ever had this year, and we're going all-out to give you a better deal than you can get anywhere else.

Plus the TV set.

Maybe you don't expect this much from a car dealer, but, if you had to compete with GM, Ford and Chrysler dealers, what would you do?

TESTING CONSTRUCTION
How can you determine if a house is well-constructed? On first entering a house, look at the hardware, trim, and fixtures. Good hardware usually indicates good quality throughout the house.
If the house has a basement, that's your next stop. Check the heating plant. Why not try it out?
Return to the first floor. Check the ceilings and walls. Small wall cracks shouldn't bother you unnecessarily. They are very common and may not always indicate poor construction. Look at the woodwork. Open and close windows and doors.
Also check the floors. Are there signs of undue wear or splintering?
Your Realtor may know the history of the house. A good house is like a good friend. Information often comes from neighbors or former residents.
Having problems finding the right home for you and your family? We can help you make the perfect selection at THE SCANLAN COMPANY. Residential real estate is our specialty, and we're members of the MLS and local and national real estate boards. See us first. THE SCANLAN COMPANY, 1012 Mass. Ave., phone 648-3050. Symmes Hospital Starts Measles Immunity Program

Symmes Hospital has introduced a program to immunize women from the dangers of exposure to German Measles during their childbearing years.

A vaccine has been perfected recently which will provide effective immunization against this disease. The big problem with German Measles is that, should a woman contract the disease during the first three months of pregnancy, there is a higher percentage of resulting fetal abnormality.

The Hospital, with the advice and assistance of Anthony E. Colozzi, M.D., Chief of Obstetrics and Gynecology, has initiated a program for the immunization of mothers within 48 hours after a delivery.

This method has been found to be the safest way to effectively immunize the mothers and minimize their risk of exposure to German Measles, should they become pregnant again.

Symmes Hospital is one of the first community hospitals in this area offering such service to its obstetric patients.
